ARMORY SITE IS ASSURED AMERICA AND MEXICO NEAR A BREAK

U.S. To Give Armory Site

Transfer Approved At Washington and Actual Exchange In Short Time

The successful conclusion is now assured of the negotiations for the land exchange between the Federal and Territorial Governments where by the site of the United States quartermaster's depot on Hotel street will come into possession of the Territory for an armory site. The only obstacle that remains to the turning over to the United States of the Channel wharf property for Federal uses is the failure of the Departments of War, Navy and Commerce to agree upon the best division of the area included in the exchange for the uses of the headquarters of the several Federal departments.

This incidental question, which does not affect the proposition of exchange at all, is the only thing that has held the actual consummation of the transfer.

The Federal Government has expressed its readiness to take over the Channel wharf property in exchange for the site now occupied by the old barracks and used by the Quartermaster's Department. In this connection repeated recommendations have been made from Washington, for the building of a modern armory for the National Guard.

It is known that General Bliss and Aleshire considered the Hotel street site in the light of a location for a Territorial armory and declared that it would be an ideal spot for such purpose.

Bliss and Aleshire also discussed informally the Channel wharf site as a general location from the Federal departments, with particular reference to the needs of the War Department. It is stated General Bliss will give his views on this problem to the War Department as part of the effort that is being made to make a division of the site satisfactory to all of the divisions of the Federal Government.

Under a modern National Guard armory will be placed upon the site of the Quartermaster's depot can now be set down as a certainty. The next Legislature being sure to respond to the urging from the War Department to the Territorial Government.

HOME RULERS ARE TALKING OF ABANDONING PARTY THAT HAS EXISTED FOR A DECADE

"We are seriously thinking of dropping the Home Rule party now, and we will ask Kahliliuani, our president, to call a special meeting in a near future for the purpose of discussing the situation."

This statement was given out this morning by one of the Home Rule leaders. He emphasized the fact that members of the party are strongly in favor of disbanding the Home Rule party, which has been in existence since the annexation of the islands to the United States.

From all indications, it is quite possible that the Home Rule party may break up. A large number of the Home Rule party have already joined either the Republican or the Democratic parties. Before they left their party, they had known that some day there would be a "break up" in the party, and, rather than wait until then, they joined the stronger parties.

That the Home Rule party may go out of political existence is rather discouraging to Charley Notley, who has repeatedly said that his party will remain alive, politically, until Hawaii becomes a state.

Notley is at present on Hawaii. He will not return here for some time, and, until he has arrived from his home on Hawaii, no definite statement can be secured from him.

At the Home Rule headquarters this morning things were very quiet. There were a few aged Home Ruleers present, discussing the result of the election yesterday. They were disappointed at not getting one of the candidates elected to any of the offices.

In former years, H. M. Kanoho, the "Cannon Ball of Kohala" had the honor of representing the Home Rule party in the Legislature.

His Home Rule friends have now abandoned him for good, because he deserted the party which had given him the honor of being one of the members of the Legislature ever since Hawaii had become a Territory. Kanoho has been in the Legislature continuously. With his defeat yesterday, it is probable that he will not be elected again in the future to any of the offices in the gift of the Hawaiian voters.

MISSION ONE OF MYSTERY

Thetis May Lay In Wait For Big Oriental Liners.

The Internal Revenue Cutter Thetis is away on another cruise the destination of the vessel having not been disclosed.

This is no new departure in the dispatch of the Thetis, although this morning a number of conjectures were offered concerning her sudden and unannounced sailing.

TWELVE WILL SIT IN SENATE

Republicans Have Big Majority In Upper House of Ter- ritorial Legislature.

Twelve out of the fifteen members of the Territorial Senate will be Republicans. Two will be Home Ruleers, while the Democrats will be represented by but one member, and that one a hold-over.

Such is the result of the election, which gave the Republican senatorial ticket a sweeping victory everywhere. Moreover, two years from now, when (Continued on Page 4)

LANE IS FOR HARMONY DEFEATED, NOT BITTER

Republican Candidate Says Party Has Shown Its Strength.

"I wish to thank the voters and the Republican leaders for the good work they have done in electing such a large number of Republicans to office," said John C. Lane today to the Bulletin.

"While I regret not being elected to the office of Mayor that I might help strengthen the party, I am satisfied that the general interests of the Territory have been protected through the general success of the party.

"We must look to the future and try to continue and improve upon the harmony that has existed in the contest just closed.

"I believe the Republican leaders, and the Republican interests generally will see that the Republican workmen are recognized, and their stand for the welfare of the country appreciated.

"I want to see harmony in the party and I think that two years hence we should be in a position to capture the important offices not now held by the Republicans.

"I have never placed my personal interests above the party. Let us bury what there is of unpleasantness about the election and look to the future."

John C. Lane.

CHAMP CLARK IS PROBABLE FOR SPEAKER

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 10.—Champ Clark, the famous Democratic warhorse of Missouri, will probably be the Speaker of the next House. This is the conclusion that follows the results of Tuesday's election all over the country.

Thirty-eight States held elections, and enough of them went Democratic to give what appears like a majority to the Democracy. Clark will be an avowed candidate for the honor of Speaker in the event that the Democrats can control that office.

The fighting Missourian has been leader of the minority in the last two sessions of Congress, and is the most logical candidate to succeed Speaker Cannon, who will be badly cut by the insurgent members of his own party, from the present outlook.

Another possibility is that the regular Republicans, the insurgent Republicans and the Democrats will each put forward candidates for the Speakership.

POLITICIANS SAY BOSS IS DOWN AND OUT

Voters of Hawaii Give Mc- Candless a Stinging Rebuke.

HE IS BEATEN MUCH WORSE THAN IN 1908

Leaders On County Ticket in Oahu Help to Pull Him Up— Other Islands Reject Him Emphatically.

Politicians about town today are all figuring over the results of the election, and the main point that the political statisticians make is that Boss McCandless has been in, voluntarily, refuted from the political field—at least, as candidate for Delegate.

The Boss got a good deal worse beating this year than he did two years ago. The thoroughness with which he was whipped will not be entirely known until the official returns come in from the other islands, but the unofficial results as published in the Bulletin give a fair idea of the emphatic way in which the voters of the Territory have rejected the Democratic Boss as their representative in the national councils.

Americans Not Safe In Mexico

Outbreaks In Capital City Result In Arrests and Ambassador Complains

MEXICO CITY, Mex., Nov. 10.—Relations between the United States and Mexico are becoming more and more strained, and the outbreaks on the part of the Mexicans against foreigners, which were frequent here yesterday, have drawn official censure from Ambassador Henry Wilson.

A responsible newspaper today advocates the boycott of American goods today, but the troubles of yesterday resulted in the jailing of 217 persons. Ambassador Wilson in a statement made today charges that the municipal police permitted Mexicans to insult the American flag which was displayed from the houses of resident Americans, as well as from the consular and diplomatic buildings.

There were no further disturbances today, but the troubles of yesterday resulted in the jailing of 217 persons.

AINAHU FOR PUBLIC AND CHARITABLE BEQUESTS IS WILL OF GOVERNOR CLEGHORN

Ainahu, the beautiful estate of the late Archibald Clegghorn, goes to the Government of Hawaii by the terms of the will which was filed for probate yesterday. The only stipulation that is involved in the deed of gift is that the Territorial Legislature make appropriation of sufficient funds to maintain the property in the best of condition. The estate of Ainahu approximates twelve acres and has always been one of the show places of Honolulu.

The many priceless relics of monarchical days there, owned by Mr. Clegghorn, have been donated to the Bishop Museum. The property that will be acquired by the museum include the gifts received by King Kalakaua during his trip around the world.

The value of the estate is set at $115,000 but this is believed to be considerably less than the figure that will be appraised. This amount is inclusive of $100,000 in real property and $15,000 of personal property.

The will names as heirs and beneficiaries Mrs. Boyd and Mrs. Robertson, adopted daughters, Thomas Clegghorn, an adopted son and three grand nephews.

Mary O'Donnell, $500 and furniture contained in her room at Ainahu.

Mrs. James W. Robertson, $2000 and property on Port street; lot between Fort and Nuuanu streets, 4.85 acres of land at Waikiki, land at Waikiki described in Apana 1, land at Waikiki conveyed by deed of J. M. Monarrat; premises at Waihee, island of Maui.

It is stipulated that Mrs. Robertson's property go to her children upon her death.

To Mrs. Boyd are given Port street property in one lot, land at Waikiki, land in Pauoa Valley, and a second lot at Waikiki. It is stipulated that the lands shall be charged with the payment to Clegghorn's executors of $1200 owed him by James Boyd.

The sum of $1000 is bequeathed to Mrs. J. E. Jaeger; to Archibald Robertson, $1000, revoked in the codicil; to Mrs. George Lucas, $1000; to Percy Clegghorn, $1000 and personal effects; to nephews, Arthur and Frank Clegghorn, $1000 each.

SCHOONER FLAURENCE WARD HAS BIGGEST FISH STORY

A trail of blood marked the course of an infuriated and lacerated whale that while asleep had blocked the pathway of the Commercial Pacific Cable supply schooner Florence Ward while that vessel was on her way from Midway Island to Honolulu.

Captain Pittz and his officers and men point to the loss of at least four plates of copper sheathing near the water line at the starboard bow, as evidence of an encounter with the marine monster.

The Florence Ward was an arrival at the port this morning bringing a half dozen employees of the cable company who have been in service at the lonely mid-Pacific station for a number of months.

The vessel was well laden with white sand that abounds in plentiful quantities at Midway.

At an early hour one evening the vessel received a jolt that sent the officers and men scudding to their stations. An investigation showed a maddened whale making its way out of the course pursued by the schooner.

The sea in the immediate vicinity of the ship was covered with blood and marked the direction taken by the cetaceous mammal in its haste in seeking a more unfrequented field of action.

The few missing plates of copper can be replaced without the supply schooner going on the marine railway.

The Florence Ward met with considerable rough weather on the return voyage. Strong gales caused the carrying away of her mainmast and to contrary winds and seas is ascribed the rather lengthy passage of the staunch little craft which took twenty-three days to complete.

It was a matter of much disappointment to the Florence Ward men that they were unable to take a parting shot at the whale whose slumbers were so rudely disturbed.

Included among the cable company employees who arrived from Midway this morning were Operator Tinker, Dr. Wood and Engineer C. Greig. The Florence Ward will return to Midway in time for Christmas.
